

Social and Personal

Many people are returning to town every week, and social events for the autumn season are being planned. One of the most interesting of these will be the performance of "Alice in Wonderland" to be given under the combined direction of the Alumnae Association of the Richmond Training School for Kindergarten and the Richmond Kindergarten Association. A meeting was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Kathleen Anderson to complete the plans for "Alice," and arrange the cast.

Chairmen of committees made good reports, and rehearsals will soon begin. A great deal of pleasure is anticipated, not only for the society folk who will grace the occasion, but for those who take part in this work of art so dear to the hearts of all lovers of human nature. There are no nice new copies of "Alice" in any library. They are all worn and thumbed by loving and interested fingers of all the little people and big people the world over.

Miss Cosby's Engagement. Mr. and Mrs. Warner Meriwether Lewis, of Danville, Va., announce the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Stevenson Cosby, to Ervin J. Dickey, of Atlanta, Ga. Miss Cosby is the only daughter of Mrs. Mary Wilson Lewis, and the late John Hamilton Cosby, for many years prominent in the business and social life of Danville. Mr. Dickey belongs to a prominent Atlanta family, and is the second son of Mrs. James L. Dickey, Sr., and the late James L. Dickey, a member of the leading social clubs of his home city.

Miss Cosby is a beautiful girl and admitted by a large circle. Her engagement will be more than usual interest throughout Virginia and North Carolina.

The announcement was made to her friends at a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Lewis in her home on Holbrook Avenue, complimenting Miss Selma Ravene of Spanburg, S. C., who is the charming guest of Mrs. Cosby.

The house was decorated with masses of palms and ferns, brightened by tall vases of American Beauty and Bride roses. After several games of bridge, a delicious luncheon was served in the dining room, where a color scheme of white and green was carried out, with a most pleasing effect.

Clusters of white roses and delicate sprays of clematis were placed about the apartment, and the soft glow from the candelabra over crystal and silver was most artistic. The centerpiece was a plat of Bride roses surrounded by pierced hearts of red carnations. Hand painted placecards represented small fans with a delicate spray of forget-me-nots. When the fans were opened two tiny hearts of forget-me-nots, caught with a true lover's knot, bore the happy pair.

Beneath each bow knot stood a Cupid, and the story told in sequence announced the engagement of Elizabeth Cosby to Ervin J. Dickey. The fair bride-to-be was showered with good wishes by her girl friends, and many bright and appropriate toasts were given, to which Miss Cosby gracefully responded. The ices were daintily suggestive of the nuptial event, which will be of leading interest to the social world in the early winter.

MRS. LEITER "NEVER MET TURKEY TROT"

Washington, September 24.—Joseph Leiter, millionaire society man of Washington and Chicago, likes the "turkey trot" dance. He said so yesterday on his arrival in Chicago, and the news was carried to his wife here this morning. The telegram that came to Washington quotes Mr. Leiter as saying:

"The turkey trot is a good thing and Chicago ought to adopt it." Mrs. Leiter, who is here, when asked about her husband's declaration this afternoon laughed heartily. "Do I like turkey trot?" she repeated. "Why, I never met the gentleman, Mr. Turkey Trot."

Mrs. Leiter was convulsed with laughter. "Having been away from Chicago too long I don't know what is going on in the city," she said. "This is too sudden. Anyway, I am glad Mr. Leiter likes it, the turkey trot. I presume that I will learn what this dance—I suppose it is a dance—is."

She showed so full of mirth that she lowered the telegram to the dinner party she was entertaining at the New Willard.

"But, mind you," she said, "I do not know anything about this 'turkey trot,' unless it be the old Southern 'burrard lode,' and I am not saying a thing about it."

TURNED BLIND ALMOST FELL Mrs. Hansen Says At First Her Case Seemed Hopeless, but She Finally Won Out.

Mobile, Ala.—"For seven years," says Mrs. Sigurd Hansen, of this city, "I suffered with womanly troubles, and, at last, was operated on."

I felt better for a time, but soon I had the same trouble as before. I had dizzy spells, and would turn blind and almost fall over. I had pains in my back and side, and was not able to work.

Half the time I could not eat any breakfast, and I always felt weak and had a headache. One day my husband got me a bottle of Cardui and I tried it. I felt better, so I took some more.

Now I am well and feel fine. My doctor says I am looking better than ever. I have a good appetite and sleep well. It is all due to Cardui. I only wish every suffering woman would try it. They would soon feel as good as I do."

You may be sure when Cardui will relieve and cure such a serious case as that of Mrs. Hansen that it will much more quickly and certainly help those women who have no serious symptoms, but are just weak and ailing.

Are you? Try it. N. B. Write to Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper on request.

PROTESTS AGAINST LIQUOR CONTINUE

Churches Condemn Its Sale on Fair Grounds at Petersburg. LICENSE IS NOT GRANTED Several Candidates Probably Will Oppose Congressman - Turnbull.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg Va., September 24.

Notwithstanding the fact, as well understood, that no license for the sale of liquor on the Fair Grounds is to be granted, protests against such sale are still being made. If several of the churches to-day formal resolutions of protest were adopted, and in the pulpits references condemning the proposition. Similar action was also taken at the meeting this afternoon of the Baptist Sunday School Union, at West End Baptist Church. In High Street M. E. Church to-night the subject was the basis of a strong sermon by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Artwell, D. D. His theme was "A Warning Against a Growing Evil in Our City."

As already stated, the Methodist ministers in the city, in a body, made a dignified protest against the presence of a bar room on the Fair Grounds as the basis of a strong sermon by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Artwell, D. D. His theme was "A Warning Against a Growing Evil in Our City."

The East Dismal Quarterly Conference has also adopted resolutions requesting the Fair directors to withdraw their application for a license, expressing apprehension of danger, discomfort, and possibly worse, to which women and children would be subjected in consequence of the sale of liquor. The Methodists of Dinwiddie, it is declared, will withdraw their patronage from the Fair if liquor is allowed to be sold there.

Many individual protests have also been made to Judge Mullen and the Fair directors.

Politics in Fourth District. In political circles speculations are already being made as to candidates for Congress in this district at the next election. Congressman Robert Turnbull, it is expected, will be a candidate for re-election. The names of Attorney William B. Cooke, of Sussex county; Senator Charles T. Lassiter, of Petersburg; and Judge Walter A. Watson, of Nottingham, are mentioned by their friends as possible candidates, but no word or sign has been given by either one of them on the subject. It is too early yet. It is more than probable that there will be two or more candidates in the race when the time comes around.

Death in Sussex. Mrs. M. V. Brown, widow of R. W. Brown, died on Saturday in her home, in Sussex, a few miles from Carson, after an illness of several months. She was a woman of sterling Christian character, and was greatly respected in her community. She is survived by three sons and three daughters.

SLAUGHTER HOUSES NOT SATISFACTORY

Winchester Dealers Warned by Inspector Garrett—Apple Growers Will Make Exhibit at Washington Show.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Winchester, Va., September 24.—All the fresh meat dealers in Winchester have been officially informed in person by Inspector Paul W. Garrett, of the dairy and food division of the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Immigration, that they must at once close their present slaughter houses and butcher their cattle, sheep and hogs in places built according to the rules and regulations of the department. Several months ago he gave them warning, but he claims little attention was given it, and now he is determined to have the places closed, with the assistance of the attorney for the Commonwealth. It has been suggested that the best way of solving the slaughter house problem is to have the animals slaughtered under the direction of a city official in a sanitary building and charge the dealers a small fee for all animals killed and dressed.

John William Stewart, a prominent Berkeley county apple grower, entertained 200 friends at a banquet held Friday evening in one of the camp buildings at his orchard, near Tablers. The menu which was uniquely arranged, contained such delicacies as "San Jose oysters broiled in bone meal, and fried in lime sulphur," "B. J. Davis cider, flavored with soluble oil," "Cedar root beer," "apple salad with Vineland dressing," "excellent motor car bread," "hot asparagus à la mode," and "codling hot champagne."

Naylor, a prominent Front Royal business man and principal owner of the Gooney Manor copper mines, in the Blue Ridge Mountains, left yesterday for Detroit, Mich., where, on Monday, he will be married to Miss Anna Naylor, in the chapel of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Cathedral, Dr. Marquis officiating. Thomas Wood Steek, a wealthy Frederick county fruit grower, and Miss Jennie Ophelia Ensminger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wein A. Ensminger, of Manheim, Pa., were married in St. Paul's Reformed Church at Manheim on the evening of September 19. A large reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The bride is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music, of Frederick, Md., and for two years was at the head of the department of voice and pipe organ at Fort Loudoun Seminary, in Winchester. They will be home after December 1 at Greenwood farm, on Opequon country place of Mr. Steek, at Opequon, near Winchester.
